The Brave Little Red Riding Hood

Once upon a time, a sweet girl named Little Red Riding Hood walks happily into the deep forest. She carries a beautiful wicker basket filled with warm, sweet apple pies for her grandmother, who is feeling sick in bed.

Suddenly, the bushes shake, and a big grey wolf jumps out right in front of her! He has sharp yellow teeth, long claws, and a very hungry smile. "Good morning, little girl," the wolf says in a low voice. "Where are you going on this lovely day? What do you have inside your basket?"

Little Red Riding Hood stops walking. She takes a deep breath and remembers her mother's words: Be brave, and be smart. She looks straight into the wolf's scary eyes, smiles proudly, and says, "I am going to visit my grandmother. And inside my basket, I have delicious pies. I also have a big whistle.

If I blow it, my father, the strongest woodcutter in the forest, will run here with his sharp axe! "The wolf's ears drop, and his face turns white. He hears a loud noise nearby and panics. "Oh! I just remembered I have another meeting!" the wolf cries out. He turns around and runs away as fast as his legs can carry him. Little Red Riding Hood laughs merrily, picks up her basket, and walks safely to her grandmother's house.

LESSONS ON LIFE

There was a man who had four sons. He wanted his sons to learn not to judge things too quickly. So, he sent them each on a quest, in turn, to go and look at a pear tree that was a great distance away.

The first son went in the winter, the second in the spring, the third in summer, and the youngest son in the fall. When they had all gone and come back, he called them together to describe what they had seen.

The first son said the tree was ugly, bent, and twisted. The second son said no; it was covered with green buds and full of promise. The third son disagreed; he said it was laden with blossoms that smelled so sweet and looked so beautiful; it was the most graceful thing he had ever seen. The last son disagreed with all of them; he said it was ripe and drooping with fruit, full of life and fulfillment.

The man then explained to his sons that they were all right because they had each seen but only one season in the tree's life. He told them that you could not judge a tree or a person by only one season and that the essence of who they are and the pleasure, joy, and love that come from that life can only be measured at the end when all the seasons are up.

If you give up when it's winter, you will miss the promise of your spring, the beauty of your summer, fulfillment of your fall. Don't let the pain of one season destroy the joy of all the rest.

Don't judge life by one difficult season. Persevere through the difficult patches, and better times will come sooner or later.

The Star Fairy's Lost Wand

Deep in the magical night sky, a tiny star fairy named Lily is dancing on a soft white cloud. Tonight is her big night. Her job is to light up the dark world below with her shiny magic wand. But suddenly, Lily trips on a piece of stardust. Oh no! Her beautiful golden wand slips out of her hand and falls down, down, down into a dark garden on Earth.

Lily sits on the cloud and covers her face. She begins to cry because without her wand, the sky will stay pitch black all night, and the children below will be scared of the dark.

Just then, a tiny firefly named Pip flies by. He hears Lily crying and stops. "Dear fairy, please do not cry. What happened?" Pip asks gently. Lily wipes her tears and answers, "I lost my magic wand in that dark garden. I cannot see anything down there!"

"Pip smiles warmly and says, "Don't worry! Follow me!" Pip turns on his bright, glowing yellow light. He flies down into the garden like a little shooting star. Lily follows him closely. Together, they search through the tall grass and under the big green leaves.

"Look! Over here!" Pip cheers. There it is! The golden wand is shining next to a red rose. Lily picks up her wand and waves it happily. Instantly, the sky fills with millions of beautiful twinkling stars. Lily hugs her new friend and says, "Thank you, Pip. You are the smallest helper, but you are the brightest star tonight!"

The Dragon Who Loves Cupcakes

“Once upon a time, there lives a giant green dragon named Toby. All the villagers are terrified of him because he has sharp teeth and long claws. They think Toby wants to steal their gold. But they are completely wrong! Toby is a very gentle dragon. He hates fighting, and he only loves sweet, pink strawberry cupcakes!

One afternoon, a big accident happens. The village bakery catches fire! The princess and the bakers are trapped inside, crying for help. "Somebody save us, please!" they scream.

Toby sees the black smoke from the mountains. He spreads his giant wings and flies down like a rocket. He stands in front of the burning bakery, takes a deep breath, and blows a massive wave of cool wind from his mouth. Poof! The dangerous fire goes out completely.

The princess walks out with a big smile. She carries a giant basket filled with fresh strawberry cupcakes. "Thank you, brave Toby!" she says. Toby wags his tail like a happy puppy and takes a big bite. From that day on, Toby becomes the best helper in the kingdom.
